Introduction

The learning plans are essential pedagogical supports meant to organise set and control the process of installing, integrating and assessing the resources required to construct a set of target competencies for learners in all educational levels. Along this process, these pedagogical scaffoldings help establish smooth and logical transition between what has been constructed and new constructions. Because of the aftermath of Covid-19 pandemic, much learning has unfortunately been missed during the third term of the school year 2019-2020, and the new school comeback (2020-2021) has also been postponed. Accordingly, to bridge this gap and ensure the continuity of learning in higher levels safely and without any learning constraint, the Ministry of National Education has decided to adapt the current annual learning plans as an exception for the school year 2020-2021.

Methodological Note

In the present document, the learning objectives and the resources which were not dealt with in the 2019-2020 academic year are included. On the other hand, certain learning objectives and resources which have been already dealt with or are not really essential to install different competencies have been exceptionally left out.
The items which were not taught in the previous academic year (2019-2020) are written in bold and underlined in the next level learning plan. They are integrated in higher levels as learning objectives and resources and not as isolated learning sequences.

The Yearly Learning Plan:

The yearly learning plan is a comprehensive template which contains learning objectives, resources, integration and assessment as well as educational projects that aims to achieve the global competence of a learning level on the basis of the target competency stated for each domain (oral interaction, interpretation of oral and written messages and production of oral and written messages) and through an integrated set of learning sections.

Each plan starts from the target competency to achieve ; its development is carried out through a problem-solving situation in its general context that the learner may encounter in his or her school or social life and a set of partial situations conductive to integration and potential remediation. The plan also contains instructions from the "support document" and the "teacher's guide" and the estimated time to devote to the learning section to ensure an adequate implementation of this latter. In this planning, the pre-requisites are included in order to draw teachers' attention to the importance of the learners' background knowledge while preparing lessons and help them regulate their teaching. Teachers are requested to check the level of assimilation of the pre-requisites regulate their teaching accordingly.
