According to Webster's Dictionary, advertising is the activity of calling something to the attention of the public, especially by paid announcements. In the U. S., people who have products or services to sell usually advertise them through television, radio, newspapers, World Wide Web, magazines, books or through words and pictures on various objects found in the world around us. Advertisers master the power of argument. They do this by convincing the public that the product they are advertising will improve their lives.

Persuasion, which is the objective of advertising, is defined as the ability to convince others of your own opinion. Therefore, in a way, good persuaders have mastered the power of argument. Each year, U.S. businesses spend 135 billion dollars on TV, radio, and print ads. About one fourth of every television hour consists of advertising, and over 50% of most magazines and billboards consist of advertising. Advertising helps us attain feelings of youth, social acceptance, intimacy and power. It uses images and words to get these themes across.

(25 points)

Read the text carefully and do the activities.

Scientists announced tonight that they have "traces" of water on the Moon following the analysis of data from a spacecraft that was deliberately crashed into a lunar crater last month.

The researchers said the evidence for the existence of significant bodies of water ice hidden in polar craters on the Moon is "definitive" and that the total quantities could be big enough to support a permanently-manned lunar base.

It is the first time that the US National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) have been so categorical about the discovery of water on the Moon. Previous studies had only suggested that the presence of water might be possible and then only in trace amounts.

One of the unexplained questions is how the water could have got to the Moon. One theory is that it arrived on a comet and another is that it was transported in the shocked polar regions where temperatures are as low as 220°C.

Even if the Moon has 12,500 square kilometers of permanently-shadowed terrain on the Moon, the amount of water ice that could be held there is just 1% by mass of water; this would still produce thousands of lakes.

1. Read the text and answer the following questions.
 a) How much evidence is there for the existence of water on the Moon?
 b) How could water have got to the Moon?
 c) How much water could be held in the polar regions of the Moon?
